

From: Wagner, Brad
Sent: Monday, October 22, 2012 10:41 AM
To: Morgan, Nancy
Cc: Calloway, Darrell
Subject: RE: Election

Per Darrell this needs to go in the political file thanks

From: Wagner, Brad
Sent: Monday, October 22, 2012 9:50 AM
To: Calloway, Darrell
Cc: Morgan, Nancy
Subject: FW: Election

Does this have to go in the political file ?

From: Schuck, Rob
Sent: Monday, October 22, 2012 8:21 AM
To: Thaxton, Steven
Cc: Wagner, Brad; Calloway, Darrell
Subject: FW: Election

Fyi and for pol file

From: Sharon Nu nner [mailto:san3416@aol.com]
Sent: Monday, October 22, 2012 5:31 AM
To: Schuck, Rob
Subject: Election

Name: Sharon Nu nner
Address 1: 1169 Ronlee Dr
City: Milford ohio
State: OH
Zip Code: 45150
Email: san3416@aol.com
Topic: WCPO Advertise
Subject: Election
Comments: Tagg Romney Invested in Ohio Electronic Voting Machines Quicklink submitted by Sheila Samples (Add your own quicklinks easily with the OpEdNews Quick Link Browser bookmark) If the Romney's can't win legally, they'll take over Ohio's electronic voting machines through investments, a direct conflict of interest in a contentious state in this election. The new owners of Ohio's voting machines under the brand name HART Intercivic is none other than Tagg Romney the son of one of the candidates Mitt Romney. In recent weeks Tagg has taken a more 'active role in his father's campaign management' but when you look further, he also has a major problem with that role. By virtue of conflict of interest alone, this role should be investigated by the DOJ preferably involving the addition of the FBI, Homeland Security and the CIA to ensure this connection will not endanger the vote in Ohio and other states. Read the rest of the story HERE: Post Quicklink Comment

Cell: 5132484388
Phone #: 5132484388